THE NIGHT OF JANUARY 16th

This play is a comedy-drama concerning the trial of Karen Andre for the murder of Bjorn Faulkner. The stage charges that on that night, Karen, his ex-secretary, pushes Bjorn from the top of a skyscraper to his death.

The defense claims that Faulkner committed suicide when he could not face the ruin of his financial empire. Karen testifies later in the trial that Bjorn is alive and another corpse was pushed from the building to let Bjorn escape with 10 million dollars to Buenos Aires where she would meet him.

The state calls this confusion of corpses a "cock and bull story" that Karen has concocted. There is a surprise ending since jury members from the audience decide her fate.

OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY

In this play, Cornelia and Emily are taking a trip to Paris where Cornelia plans to take acting lessons from Monsieur De La Croix, a French actor.

Even though the girls meet Mr. and Mrs. Skinner in Europe, they are alone on the boat where they have many unusual experiences. One of the more memorable events was the day they received their safety-pockets. The girls try desperately throughout the voyage to rid themselves of the horrible creations, but alas, they are never quite successful.

This play was adapted for the stage by Jean Kerr from the book of the same name by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kembrough.

Coach and player confer.

The young hopeful Raiders of Marlette approached the 1959-60 season with a great deal of apprehension because of a new coach, a new system, and very few returning letter men. During preschool practice our Raiders worked very hard getting in shape and learning plays for the coming season.

Throughout the season, when at times the boys were being beaten very badly, they never gave up. They gave all they had all of the time.

We made many mistakes; however, they were mistakes that inexperienced players would make.

The student body, parents, and fans should be very proud of the 1959-60 edition of the Raider football team.

The band, with our new director, Mr. Milano, started the year with a series of half-time shows for the home football game. Head Majorette, Mary Kay Bloss, was assisted by Carolyn McCrea and Lois Woods in leading the band through the shows. The shows were greatly varied, including a demonstration of precision drill, a salute to the Armed Forces, and a brief history of popular music.

It seemed that football season was barely completed when we found ourselves sitting on the stage for the Christmas Concert. After an all-too-short (or so it seemed) Christmas vacation, we began serious work on music for the Sanilac County Band Festival and for the District Band Festival in Flint, where the band received an excellent rating. At the conclusion of the Festival Season, our efforts turned to the Spring Concert.

The Marching Band was again organized and performed in Mt. Clemens in Marlette for Memorial Day, and in Kingston for their Homecoming celebration, to bring the band year to a close.
